

Jean Koeller

Private Lessons:

I provide private lessons for individuals of high school age and older. Lessons include drawing and painting in oils, and are tailored to the student's level of skill and experience. Lessons are usually conducted in three-hour blocks if we are working with oils. For more information and pricing, please contact me by e-mail: jeankoeller@aol.com

Consulting:

I am available for studio visits, portfolio review and consulting for shows.

Consulting may include:

- Analysis of a body of work in progress.
- Organizing a portfolio of work for application to graduate school or other programs.
- Critique of work to further your knowledge of painting or art in general.
- Helping an artist who is preparing for a show.
- Serving as a "second eye" or advisor who can listen to your thoughts and pull them together and give you insight into what I hear and what I see while looking at the work.

Cost is $100 for the first hour and $25 pro-rated, per hour after that, per visit. This includes a phone conversation prior to the visit to learn the needs so that I am prepared with anything I need to bring with me. Follow up e-mails, if needed after the visit, are included.
